

ADHD SALES REP DAILY PLANNER

Printable + Digital

For sales reps who know they're capable of more

but can't always get the brain to cooperate.

One page. One day. One focus at a time.

Warren Davis | Commission Sales Professional

How to Use This Planner

Regular planners were designed for neurotypical brains. If your brain works in ADHD mode, a standard day planner is basically decoration. This one was built differently.

What's Different:

- Visual-first: you know where to look before your brain catches up
- 25-minute focus blocks: short enough to stay in, long enough to finish something
- ONE THING principle: your brain only has to hold one priority at a time
- Distraction dump: catch ideas mid-conversation without losing the thread
- Hyperfocus warning: built-in check to stop the spiral before it eats your afternoon
- Win capture: ADHD brains forget what they accomplished — this makes it visible

What's in This Pack:

7 Daily Planning Pages — Morning launch, focus blocks, customer log, distraction dump, hyperfocus check, end-of-day reset

Weekly Commission Tracker (4 weeks) — Units, attach rate, commissions, follow-ups, patterns — tracked week by week

Monthly Goal Tracker — Your income target broken into weekly milestones

How to Run a Day:

Morning (5 min before clock-in): Write ONE THING. Brain dump whatever is floating. Check your targets. Set your first focus block.

During your shift: Use focus blocks for admin and follow-ups. Log every customer. Put distractions in the dump box, not in your head.

If the hyperfocus kicks in: Use the Hyperfocus Warning box. Answer the questions. Break the spiral.

End of day (5 min): Fill the Win Capture section. Write tomorrow's ONE THING while your brain still knows what it is.

Print tip: Letter size (8.5" x 11"), one-sided. Keep pages in a binder or on a clipboard at your workstation. Reprint as needed.
